Disneyland Books Goodman For Week End Performance

Benny Goodman is coming to Disneyland. May 27-28-29. He'll play from 8 to 12 p.m. each evening.

COMMENTING on Goodman's performance, Director of the Park's entertainment Tommy Walker said: "Book- ing Goodman — the first star ever to appear in Disneyland for more than one performance — sets the pattern to introduce the biggest season of night-time entertainment we have ever offered in Disneyland."

Goodman and his court of 10 artists will usher in Disneyland's "open every day" summer schedule. Regular ticket prices will prevail throughout the Goodman appearance.

Through a long and celebrated career of exciting music lovers of all ages, Benny Goodman has been no stranger to the West Coast. His first professional engagement was with Ben Pollack's band at the Venice Ballroom in the middle '20s.

SINCE THAT time he has made many tours to the Los Angeles area, turned up again in Hollywood (1955), this time to put his life story on celluloid, and was back briefly last year to stir high fever among the jazz buffs.

The "Let's Dance" theme song of Benny Goodman, coming straight to Disneyland from a concert date in Chicago, will also be heard on Saturday, June 3, when the band opens the 1961 "Date Nite" Disneyland program.

Garrett's capabilities in this field have continued to be recognized on up through the development of the jet transports and currently with its most recent achievement, the air conditioning and pressurization of Project Mercury's manned space capsule.

BY THE VERY nature of its work in a business which had never existed before the company's establishment, it has made a long list of notable contributions to the science of aeronautics, and is currently well into a number of nuclear and solar space power projects.

In addition, it has become an important economic asset both locally and nationally with highly substantial annual disbursements to about 3500 to 4000 small business and other firms from California to New England. Its payroll last year totalled $86,800,000.

In addition to its primary role in the area of environmental controls which are built by its two AIRESEARCH Manufacturing Divisions in Los Angeles and Phoenix, The Garrett Corp. also operates in several other directions.

ITS AIRESEARCH Industrial Division is the leading manufacturer of power-boosting turbochargers for diesel engines. Its Air Cruisers Division in Belmar, New Jersey, manufactures inflatable rubberized survival equipment including life rafts, aircraft escape slides, life preservers, and related products.

Garrett's AIRESEARCH Aviation Service Division, at Los Angeles International Airport, is in the business of modification and maintenance of business and private aircraft. Three other divisions, in the industrial and aircraft supply field, including Garrett Supply, the original Garrett company; Air-supply-Aero Engineering Co., and Marvied in San Francisco. Foreign operations are carried on by Garrett International, S. A., a subsidiary located in Geneva, Switzerland; Garrett Manufacturing Limited in Toronto, Canada, and Garrett (Japan) Limited in Tokyo.

THE COMPANY continues to expand its manufacturing facilities. Its AIRESEARCH Division in Los Angeles this year opened a new 235,000 square foot manufacturing facility in Torrance on 66 acres.

In Phoenix an additional 60,000 square foot office-factory building was acquired on 24 acres adjacent to the AIRESEARCH Division of Arizona the nation's largest producer of small gas turbine engines. It was the second large plant acquisition in Phoenix in two years.

Supervisors in Tribute to Firm On Anniversary

The County Board of Supervisors Tuesday approved a resolution honoring the Garrett Corp. on its 25th anniversary, praising it for its "many material contributions to the science of aeronautics" and its "very substantial financial contribution to the economic life blood" of the County.

The resolution, introduced by Supervisor Burton W. Chace, also commended J. C. Garrett, owner and founder, for "his foresight and ability in founding the progressive and valuable Los Angeles company which bears his name, and for building it with keen business acumen through 25 years to its high position in the field of aeronautics."

Chace also noted that the Garrett company has grown into an international organization containing eight divisions and two subsidiary companies; that it employs 10,000; that its total sales last year totaled approximately $224,000,000 with a current backlog of more than $100,000,000; that it has an annual payroll of $86,000,000 and very substantial disbursements to more than 1000 other Southern California firms.

Garrett Corp. Observing Its Silver Anniversary

The Garrett Corp. of Los Angeles this week celebrates its Silver Anniversary after 25 years in business.

Founded on May 21, 1936, with a handful of personnel headed by J. C. Garrett, who is still president, the organization today is composed of eight divisions and two subsidiaries, employing 10,000 people in operations which span the world. Approximately 5500 are employed in Los Angeles.

Originally formed to provide procurement and engineering services for the embryonic West Coast aircraft industry, the company since then has become the leading developer and manufacturer of environmental control systems for aircraft, missiles and space ships. Practically every American built transport airplane and a preponderance of military planes now carry Garrett pressurization and air conditioning equipment plus numerous other components. The company's sales last year totalled $224,000,000 compared with $284,832 the year it started.

Ink Spots Return to Marineland

Appearing again at the Marineland Restaurant in Palos Verdes, where last year they set a new attendance record in the "Porpoise Room," are the celebrated stars of song, The Ink Spots. The close-harmony group, which is famed for their mellow ballads and hauntingly nostalgic style, just opened a five-week return engagement in the "Porpoise Room."

The Ink Spots' honey-sweet vocalizing began on Decca Records in 1939 with "If I Didn't Care" and "It's Funny to Everyone But Me." Since then their voices have become as familiar in the American home as the sound of rain on the roof. Their "talking choruses," so closely identified with the group, have also made them international favorites.

Apart from their inimitable style, which vibrates the memory and touch the heart, The Ink Spots also entertain instrumentally at Marineland Restaurant, assuring an unforgettable musical treat in the "Porpoise Room" through July 2.

Men's Rally Scheduled

More than 1000 men are expected to attend the annual Men's Rally at the Crenshaw Christian Church Friday night to hear Dr. Fred Judson, Baptist minister, and the "Wings over Jordan" choir.
